New Business

- Revise Catalog Course Listing – PSY 563, Statistics and Psychometric Theory
There was a Huss/Knotts motion to approve/second. Steve Haggbloom presented. The rationale for the change is that this course is no longer a requirement for all psychology graduate students, so the course description is being modified to reflect this. The motion passed.
- Create a New Course – PSY 502, Teaching Psychology I
Dr. Poe informed the committee members that there was currently no Library Resources Form prepared for this course. According to the guidelines for new course proposals, a new course proposal should not be addressed at the College level unless it is accompanied by a completed LRF. - Revise a Program – 092, Master of Arts in Psychology
There was a Haggbloom/Huss motion to approve/second. Steve Haggbloom presented. Revisions for this program are to revise program admission criteria, add a requirement for a minimum grade of B in certain core courses in the psychological science concentration, and add a thesis requirement to the clinical concentration. There were a few edits mentioned and noted. The motion passed.
- Revise a Program – 147, Specialist in Education: School Psychology
